Meet Particle and Theory! They're jelly twins!

Now, were they always like this? No! Let's go back in time to when they were just merely babies.

Particle and Theo were made up of jelly powder (tiny particles). They were identical and always moved together! No one could tell them apart.

Particle and Theory were just adopted!

Their mom neutered and looked after the twins very carefully.

Both Party and Theo talk about their childhood memories.

Meanwhile, on their time journey, Party and Theo are still freezing into shape.

Just a couple of hours in the fridge, and... tada! Particle and Theory are now solid jelly.

Fun Fact: The particles of jelly are smaller than the empty spaces between them.

The End